LINCOLN HARDING MEMORIAL AWARD (LHMA)

Who was Lincoln Harding?

Lincoln became a member of the Walkerville All Cars Club Inc (WACC) in 1982, at 19 years of age.

As a competitive rally driver in SARC (and VRC) events, he was known as a “hard charger”, always providing spectator entertainment and excitement. He always looked towards Europe as the ultimate goal in his beloved rallying career. There was no doubt in his mind that he would one day compete in the world’s top events – it was only a matter of time.

He ran a motor repair workshop in Prospect where he built (and rebuilt) his own rally cars, mostly Ford Escorts. But the elusive dollar kept him battling against the clock; he worked hard and long hours on his cars, often adapting unsuitable or second hand components to meet regulations and rally deadlines.

Of his driving ability, there was no doubt, and he invariably achieved top stage times during events, pushing his vehicle to the absolute limit at all times. However, because he often overextended the capacity of his cars during competition on many occasions, his efforts would often result in a DNF!

During the Robertstown Rally in 1989 he achieved third outright in his Escort, and at Ardrossan in the same year, driving his HT Bathurst Monaro (now on permanent display at Birdwood Mill National Motor Museum) he achieved equal fourth.

Always willing to help and encourage others involved in his sport, Lincoln agreed to navigate for a younger driver, himself new to Rallying, for the Clare Valley Rally (Round 1 SARC) in April 1990. It was during the second stage of that event that the accident occurred that tragically took Lincoln’s life. He was 27 years old.
